History

”Feliz Navidad” is a macaronic (more than one language) Christmas song written in 1970 by the Puerto Rican singer-songwriter José Feliciano. With its simple yet powerful Spanish chorus "Feliz Navidad, próspero año y felicidad" and equally stirring English verse "I wanna wish you a Merry Christmas from the bottom of my heart", it has become a classic Christmas pop song in the United States, throughout the Spanish-speaking world and internationally.

Feliciano's version of "Feliz Navidad" (in which he plays both an acoustic guitar and a Puerto Rican Cuatro) is one of the most downloaded and aired Christmas songs in the United States and Canada. It was recognized by ASCAP as one of the top 25 most played and recorded Christmas songs around the world.

The Puerto Rican cuatro is the national instrument of Puerto Rico. It belongs to the lute family of stringed instruments, and is guitar-like in function, but with a shape closer to that of the violin. The word cuatro means "four", which was the total of strings of the very first Puerto Rican cuatro. They now come in eight string “Southern” and ten string “moderno” configurations.
