Sing along with the Pure Prairie League @ <https://youtu.be/IPgNbFni0oI>

A G D A G D

I can see why you think you belong to me.

A G D A D Dsus4/A

I never tried to make you think, or let you see one thing for yourself;

C D Dsus4/A

But now your off with someone else and I'm alone;

C E

You see I thought that I might keep you for my own.

CHORUS

A G D

Amie what you want to do?

A G D

I think I could stay with you;

Bm E A G D A G D

For a while, maybe longer if I do.

A G D A G D

Don't you think the time is right for us to find;

A G D A D Dsus4/A

All the things we thought weren't proper could be right in time. And can you see;

C D Dsus4/A

Which way we should turn together or alone;

C E

I can never see what's right or what is wrong, will it take to long to see.

CHORUS + INSTRUMENTAL CHORUS

Well now, + CHORUS

A G D A G D

Now it's come to what you want you've had your way;

A G D A D Dsus4/A

And all the things you thought before just faded into gray. And can you see;

C D Dsus4/A

That I don't know if it's you or if it's me.

C E

If it's one of us I'm sure we'll both will see; won't you look at me and tell me.

CHORUS + longer if I do;

Yeah now, + CHORUS

A G D

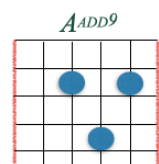

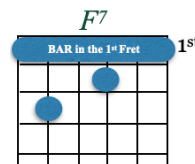

I keep fallin' in and out of love with you;

A G D

Fallin' in and out of love with you;

A G D A G F7 Aadd9 A

Don't know what I'm gonna do, fallin' in and out of love with y - - o - - u.

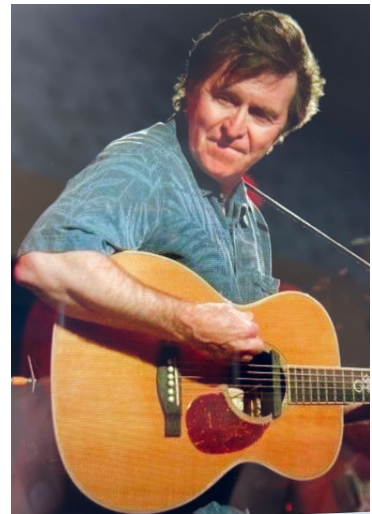

History

In his book Music: What Happened?, musician and music critic Scott Miller described “Amie” as “quintessentially 1972” and “lovely.” Mike DeGagne of Allmusic called it “a charming little country-pop tune” and “their most memorable,” praising its melody and Craig Fuller’s lead vocals. Rock historian John Einarson, citing the song’s “lilting harmonies and subtle acoustic playing,” called it “a classic of the country rock genre.” Rick Larson of asyougosongs.com suggests this attractively singable song is also eloquently emblematic of the confused worldview left in the wake of the political upheaval combined with the sexual revolution of the 1960s.

Craig Lee Fuller born July 18, 1949 is an American musician and songwriter.

Fuller was the co-founder of Pure Prairie League, along with John David Call and George Powell. Fuller departed in 1973 after their second album, Bustin’ Out, due to draft board problems. He returned to the music business in 1976 for two LPs with American Flyer. After American Flyer dissolved, Fuller returned to record one LP with former Flyer member Eric Kaz.

In 1987 Fuller was hired by Little Feat to front the band, who had long ago noticed an uncanny resemblance in his voice to that of their late founder and frontman, Lowell George. Fuller’s first LP with the band was Let It Roll. He recorded two further albums with Little Feat before leaving the band in 1993.
